Hi Shaun,

I do plan to be in-person at tonight's hearing but in the event I don't get to speak I would like to submit this article which just came out about the link between e-cigarettes and bladder cancer.

The industry maintains that e-cigarettes are "safer" (whatever that means) than combustible tobacco. The problem is e-cigs have not been around long of us to understand the potential for long-term use issues. Health data is just starting to come out.

Please feel free to share with your Board as they consider the NFG policy.

Thank you,

Maureen

I will print it and make it available.

One of the groups sent me an article that nicotine didn't pose a risk to pregnant women. The article was junk.

See you there.
