Hi Shaun and Simone,

I was considering adding a discussion point for our next HOP Coalition meeting around community education and outreach related to NFG.

Specifically, I'd love to explore:

- What educational materials or messaging we should be creating
- Where and how we should be distributing information (community events, schools, parent groups, etc.)
- Whether there's a role for retailer education
- How the coalition might best support or amplify existing efforts

I know your department is already doing some of this and I don't want to reinvent the wheel—just thinking about whether this could be a useful, collaborative focus for the coalition.

Do you think this would be a valuable discussion? Happy to connect more before the meeting if helpful.

Thanks,
Erin

Good afternoon Erin,

I'm off. That being said:

- retailer education is being handled by the state. Their retail association is supposed to be assisting.

I agree that we should educate the public.

I will return Tuesday to discuss.

Shaun
